Automating the collation of information for Insolvency

The management of customers in an IVA can present real challenges to an Insolvency Practitioner. It is crucial that accurate information is gathered on a regular basis to ensure the agreement is managed effectively.

Aryza Review gives your customers access to an automated tool that can be used to gather personal and financial information to give an accurate view of affordability and vulnerability.

It can also suggest areas for money saving, based on the Standard Financial Statement guidelines (SFS), and includes a decisioning element to provide your customers with an outcome of the best course of action for them.

Aryza Review has been designed to leverage the best practices of our clients and the requirements of consumers.

Even if you have an existing automated solution it may be worth talking to Aryza about your low conversion rates and customer retention. Our experienced team will be able to work with you to review where you can improve processes, introduce efficiencies, and influence key operational SLAs.

If you would like a demo of the software, get in touch and we will arrange this for you.

The benefits of using Aryza Review include:

Secure document upload
The debtor can upload documents directly from the device they're using, and the information is automatically stored against their account

Automated contact strategy
Email and SMS communications can be used to encourage consumers to complete the journey, and keep them updated on the status of their case

Summary of financial situation
Income and outgoings are summarised for the consumer to allow them to review and amend their data quickly and simply

Household information
A series of carefully worded questions guides the consumer through the process of updating information about their property, relationships, assets and debts

Simple email or SMS invite
Your customer will receive a link to the site which will be white labelled as your brand

Annual review verification
Secure log in and ID check confirms the consumer's identity before allowing them to proceed

Automation of information collation
It is possible to use open banking and credit reference data to pre fill much of the content of the standard financial statement, although there is an option to complete manually if the consumer prefers

Secure registration and login
Customers can create their own secure area, where their data is protected, and they can return to review at any point. This area is also password protected and has two levels of authentication for

Pre-populated with previous data
If the consumer has already completed their income and expenditure with you, this data can be presented back to them to make the data entry process simpler

Validated against SFS guidelines
The data gathered is compared with the household composition information and then fed into a decision engine that highlights where any areas of overspend may be happening
